DAVID LAWRENCE CENTER
Mental Health & Substance Abuse Services

ANNUAL REPORT 2010-2011

ABOUT US

Established in 1968 by members of the community to address an overwhelming unmet need for services, the David Lawrence Center is Collier County's not-for-profit, behavioral health agency that focuses on restoring and rebuilding lives. DLC provides innovative, comprehensive and compassionate mental health and substance abuse specialty services devoted to children, adults and families. The David Lawrence Foundation was established in 1976 to generate philanthropic support for the advancement of the Center's mission, operations and growth in order to meet the diverse mental health needs in our community.

The David Lawrence Center and Foundation achieve positive outcomes by focusing on what we do best – providing comprehensive, innovative mental health and substance abuse treatment services for children, adults and families in Collier County.

During the past fiscal year, we impacted the lives of more than 30,000 people. We were able to provide essential services to our local community by securing additional resources despite the very challenging economic environment in which we continue to operate.

Our vision is to become the best behavioral health care facility in the country. This has led to numerous innovative approaches, collaborations, treatments and practices over the past year, including our Telemedicine project and the Collier Health Under Guided Systems (HUGS) program, which are both featured in this year's annual report.

Operationally, we have adopted the use of national Best Practices to ensure we give people the best opportunity to recover and have a successful treatment experience. Supporting this is our Foundation leadership, which is fiercely dedicated to providing our community with the best possible services right here in Collier County.

As the result of an aggressive resource development project, the David Lawrence Center and Foundation were successful in securing an unprecedented amount of grant revenue. This involved collaboration with numerous agencies, corporate partners, donors and other organizations throughout our community.

Today as we have for more than 40 years, we remain governed by dedicated community members invested in developing the programs and services needed to best serve the Collier County community. Having served a record number of people in 2010-2011, we have reached a point where renovated and improved facilities are absolutely necessary. The Foundation is currently exploring a number of options so that we can implement many more innovative programs and services and remain on the cutting edge of behavioral health treatment.

New and expanded programming requires additional space and we welcome our generous supporters to join us as we continue to restore and rebuild lives in Collier County.

“My doctor made me feel like he understood me and listened to me in a way that I needed to be heard.”

Velma is a 34-year old mother who witnessed unthinkable trauma, experienced devastating loss and dealt with overwhelming health issues that made her feel suicide was the only way to escape her pain.

As a child, she witnessed her stepfather, in a jealous rage, shoot her mother. Surprisingly, she survived only to have her tragically killed by a drunk driver several years later. Sadly, history repeated itself when her sister was murdered at the hands of an abusive partner and her father was killed in a hit and run accident. She was then diagnosed with lupus causing her to live with pain daily preventing her from working and living the active life she always enjoyed.

Tragedy and death surrounded her and her life came to a screeching halt. She sank into a deep depression and suffered endlessly from the symptoms of post traumatic stress disorder.

Velma finally asked for help from DLC and was referred to individual therapy and case management and began seeing a psychiatrist utilizing the new telemedicine technology. She shares, “My doctor made me feel like he understood me and listened to me in a way that I needed to be heard. DLC helped me see that there was a way out and that I didn’t want to die.”

She was finally able to sleep without fear and regulate her mood and anxiety while working with her therapist on how to cope day to day with her mental and physical health problems. Velma adds, “DLC helped me be a better parent. I no longer live in fear and don’t let things get me down. It is very helpful to know that you are not alone and there is help out there.”

“Things have greatly improved at home. Joe is able to listen, follow the rules, and gets along much better with his siblings.”

When Ingrid brought her son for a check up at a local medical clinic, they asked her how her child’s behavior was at home and in school. At the time, she was struggling to control her 14-year old son Joe and was scared about his outbursts. He had become extremely defiant, was angry and appeared tired all the time. Out of ideas, she accepted the help that was recommended after a screening showed he may be struggling with mental health and substance abuse issues.

Their family was referred by a HUGS System Navigator to the David Lawrence Center for outpatient therapy. Joe’s therapist quickly uncovered that he was experimenting with marijuana and was struggling to regulate his mood because he was frustrated with the responsibilities his parents placed on him for caring for his four younger siblings. He ended up taking it out on them yelling at his brothers and sisters and using pot to escape. The therapist helped him articulate his frustrations with his parents and taught him better coping skills for dealing with his anger. She worked with him on how best to communicate his goals and how to work hard to achieve them.

Ingrid proudly reports, “In just a short period of time, things have greatly improved at home. Joe is able to listen, follow the rules, gets along much better with his siblings and is more focused.” His improved anger management and behavior, clean drug screens and hard work earned him his own room and a better relationship with this family proving that early intervention can prevent more serious problems.

inspiring INNOVATION

TELEMEDICINE PROGRAM

Last year, the David Lawrence Center partnered with ValueOptions® to launch an innovative telemedicine pilot project. The six month pilot helped determine if telemedicine, which utilizes high-definition video conferencing units to bring doctors and clients together virtually, could effectively provide more timely access to mental health care in rural communities. Due to its overwhelming success, DLC now utilizes telemedicine for assessments, psychiatric services and therapy sessions system wide between the main campus in Naples and the Immokalee Satellite office approximately 40 miles inland in a relatively isolated, outlying section of Collier County. Now the residents of this culturally and economically diverse, agricultural community, can access expert, specialty treatment that can minimize psychological trauma and potentially prevent someone from taking life-threatening action.

Telemedicine By the Numbers

- ▶ 65% increase in total services
- ▶ 79% increase in medication management services
- ▶ 229% increase in case management services

Telemedicine Partners

ValueOptions®, Naples Children and Education Foundation, The League Club, Inc., Collier Health Services, Youth Haven

Telemedicine Goals

- ▶ Improve accessibility to mental health care
- ▶ Eliminate treatment barriers
- ▶ Improve prevention and treatment
- ▶ Improve the likelihood of successful completion of treatment
- ▶ Assure same day access to urgent and emergent care

improving ACCESS

HUGS PROGRAM

The Collier Health Under Guided System (HUGS) program, funded through the Naples

Children and Education Foundation, was developed in collaboration with several not-for-profit, community stakeholders. HUGS provides improved access to mental health care by providing screening, early identification, and expanded capacity of David Lawrence Center outpatient services. At-risk children and their families receive specialized guidance and support through HUGS System Navigators. Now after its first full year in operation, the program is changing minds and changing lives one hug at a time.

HUGS By the Numbers

- ▶ 1,238 children screened through HUGS
- ▶ 23% of those screened needed further evaluation/referrals
- ▶ 798 new DLC clients receiving children's psychiatric services

HUGS Partners

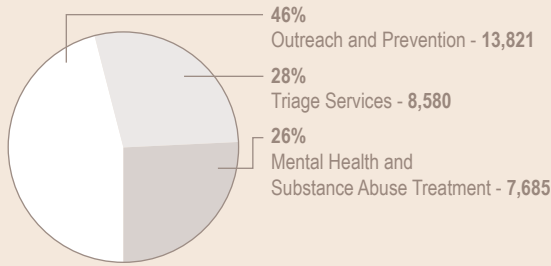

Able Academy, Collier County Public Schools, Collier County Sheriff's Office, Collier Health Services, National Alliance on Mental Illness, Youth Haven

HUGS Goals

- ▶ Integrate primary care and mental health care
- ▶ Improve prevention, early intervention and universal screenings
- ▶ Improve family-centered, behavioral health care system navigation
- ▶ Expand access to children's mental health care
